Monthly Recommended Reads

Don't have time to keep up with literature but would like to know what is new in the field of Allergy?

Stay tuned by reading the monthly choice of bibliographic updates in Allergy brought to you by Claude Molina and Jacques Gayraud on EAACI's website. You will find the highlights of the month in terms of research in the field of allergy, with a short summary of interest to clinicians and scientists. The monthly choices on diverse topics are personal, independent, guided by the high scientific level of research and do not contain any conflict of interest.

December 2019

- Hypersensitivity pneumonitis \(HP\) and telomeropathy
- Crisaborole and atopic dermatitis skin biomarkers: An inpatient randomized trial
- Food allergy to wheat following skin exposure by cosmetics
- Misperception of asthma symptoms
- The projected economic and health burden of uncontrolled asthma in USA
